Harvest the Wind Network™ and Pace Global Form Strategic Partnership

Collaboration to Advance Distributed Wind Energy Solutions

Greensburg, KS and Fairfax, VA – December 3rd, 2010 – Harvest the Wind Network, LLC has partnered with Pace Global Energy Services, LLC (Pace Global) to provide distributed wind energy solutions to clients seeking to add renewable energy to their supply portfolio. The partnership combines the strength of Pace Global's proven energy management services with Harvest the Wind Network's established, nationwide community wind dealer network. Together the organizations will provide clients a depth of industry knowledge and experience coupled with the proven capability for execution and local, long-term project support, resulting in a turnkey solution unparalleled in the market today.

"This partnership is a commitment between two reputable organizations to provide outstanding service to our customers throughout the world" said Kelly Estes, President of Harvest the Wind Network. "It's a step in the right direction for Harvest the Wind Network, Pace Global and Distributed Wind as an industry in pairing two world class companies to do what they do best, put the customer first!"

Timothy F. Sutherland, Pace Global's Chairman and CEO, states "Distributed energy such as wind is going to play a major role into the future. By partnering with Harvest the Wind Network, we can provide our clients with clean wind energy. Further, existing incentives create an opportunity to realize immediate savings while creating a hedge against future energy price escalation."
